

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard.

Also, by only showing one side strongly, even if they do have a speaker from the other side, we undermine equal access to knowledge for our voters. If the voters are not educated fairly, then they cannot truly exercise as members of a democracy. Please do not consider this documentary plain news, and make the free public airways show both sides. Thank you.
